The figure shows a plot with the vertical axis labeled "computianonal performance quantity" and the horizontal axis labeled "operetional intensity quantity". It contains the following labels:

- infeasible design state space
- theoretical limit based on computational performance
- theoretical limit based on memory bandwidth
- feasible design state space